WEST REJECTS PROPOSAL BY MOLOTOV

Lattimore is Again Indicted By Federal Jury

Charged with Lying at Least Twice In Senate Testimony

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal grand jury today indicted Far Eastern specialist Owen Lattimore for the second time on perjury charges.

The grand jurors charged that Lattimore lied at least twice in his testimony in 1952 before the Senate Internal Security subcommittee.

The indictment accused Lattimore of lying under oath when he:

1. Testified that he never followed the Communist Party line, and

2. Said that he had never been a promoter of Communist interests.

Today's indictment was returned before Federal Dist. Judge Edward A. Tamm. It supplements a perjury indictment returned against the 54-year-old Johns Hopkins University lecturer in December, 1952.

Key Count Was Dismissed

Of the seven counts in the first indictment, two have been dismissed by the courts. Those dismissed include a so-called "key count" which charged that Lattimore lied when he said he was never a promoter or sympathizer with Communists.

Justice Department officials have said that if the new indictment is sustained, it will be consolidated with the five remaining counts of the old indictment in bringing Lattimore to trial.

Today's indictment embodies the idea behind the dismissed "key count" of the 1952 indictment, in that it charges Lattimore with following the party line and promoting Communist interests in contrast with his denial under oath.

But it does not mention, as did the key count of the old indictment, Lattimore's sympathy for Communist interests. This had been assailed in the courts for its vagueness.

If convicted on both counts in the new indictment, Lattimore would be subject to a maximum penalty of five years in prison and $2,000 fine on each count.

To buttress the grand jury's allegation in the first count that Lattimore followed the Communist Party line, the indictment cited 132 statements from his writing about 25 separate topics dealing with communism, the Soviet Union, and U. S.-Soviet relations.

Cite Books and Articles

These writings include several of Lattimore's books, his press dispatches, and his magazine articles.

Lattimore has been a long-time target of Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.). His original indictment grew out of his testimony before the Senate Internal Security subcommittee when it was headed by the late Sen. Pat McCarran (D-Nev.).

The subcommittee at the time was investigating the Institute of Pacific Relations, a private research organization on the Far East with which Lattimore had been affiliated for years.

Charge Russia Bid to Unify Germany Scheme to Wreck Rearmament Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — American officials charged today that Russia's bid to unify Germany is nothing more than a scheme to destroy the Allies' historic new plan for rearming West Germany.

They said they are counting on Germany and France to avoid the trap and push full speed ahead with the rearmament project although popular pressure to dally with the Soviet proposal could be great.

Russian Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov played his big card in the East-West struggle over Germany late Wednesday. He called for the withdrawal of all foreign troops from occupied Germany and the discussion of any Allied proposals for all-German elections and Germany's unification.

Old Trick, White House Says

There was no official reaction from the State Department. But the White House said the proposal is "just another old Russian trick."

"There's nothing new in these proposals," said Acting Press Secretary Murray Snider. "If all troops were withdrawn from Germany it would leave East Germany with a tremendous police force far in excess of the West German military organization."

Diplomats said Germany and France are the key to what happens on the Soviet bid since the vision of unification is a powerful lure to the Germans and any alternative to Germany's rearmament, appeals to the French. These diplomats concede these factors could delay the Allied plan on German rearmament but they do not think it will stop it.

Hard to Reject

Generally speaking, these diplomats see little new in the Russian proposal. But Molotov did make it hard for the West to reject his whole plan outright by offering to discuss the West's own proposals.

There is unanimous agreement here that the Russians are not prepared to give up an inch of territory in Red-run Eastern Germany. It is also agreed that any Russian plan could be designed to conquer West Germany regardless of Molotov's words of the moment.

An interim step in the Russian plan could be a "neutralized zone" that would shift eventually away from the West.

Begin Pulling U. S. Troops From Trieste

TRIESTE (AP) — United States troops began pulling out of Trieste today, ending a nine-year occupation of the strategic Adriatic port area.

The first of the 4,000-man American garrison rumbled out of Trieste in a motor convoy shortly after 7 a. m. for redeployment to other free world defenses.

The Americans, and the 3,000 British troops, were freed from occupation of the Trieste area by the agreement initiated in London Tuesday by Italy and Yugoslavia ending their long dispute over the area.

An Army spokesman said that the Americans who left today were an advance party who would prepare billets at Leghorn, Italy, for other members of the U. S. force leaving here.

The advance elements of the American garrison left in conformance with an announcement by Maj. Gen. John A. Dabney Tuesday that the evacuation would start "at once."

Another battalion of the U. S. 88th Division's 351st Regiment is packed and ready to leave.

The two British battalions in Trieste are on 24-hour notice to leave.

The quick shift of troops following the agreement to partition the Trieste free territory reflected the Allied military government's confidence that Italy will take over Zone A of the territory without trouble.

550,000 Watch Veiled Prophet Parade in St. Louis

ST. LOUIS (AP) — An estimated crowd of about 550,000 persons lined the streets Wednesday night to watch the annual Veiled Prophet parade.

For the first time, the parade route was along broad Lindell Boulevard.

This year, the floats were equipped with power generators which enabled them to travel over streets that did not have overhead electric street car lines.

His mysterious majesty, clothed in splendid Oriental robes, was in the forefront of the 20-foot parade and was followed by his new Queen of Love and Beauty and her special maids of honor.

The papier mache floats were based on Municipal Opera themes and covered a seven-mile route.

Temperatures were in the mid-50s and many spectators wore wraps and light coats to protect them from the cold.

The queen, Miss Barbara Anne Whitmore, and her maids were protected from the cold by a plastic transparent covering which surrounded the float.

Ten uniformed bands were spaced between the floats to provide musical accompaniment to the procession.

The Mitchell-Carnegie public library board met yesterday afternoon and changed the library hours from the original schedule since the present one has not proved satisfactory.

The library will be open Monday through Friday from 1 p. m. to 8 p. m. and on Saturday from 1 p. m. to 6 p. m.

B50 Crashes, 13 Killed; Four Survivors

Four-Engine Plane Burns on California Ranch

WILLOWS, Calif. (AP) — A four-engine B50 reconnaissance plane crashed to earth in flames near here Wednesday night, killing 13 of 17 crewmen aboard.

Four men survived the accident, which took place on a rice ranch five miles southwest of Willows.

Of the victims, 12 burned to death in the plane while the other was killed when his parachute failed to open.

Glenn County Sheriff Lyle Sale confirmed that 13 bodies had been found.

An Air Force spokesman said the survivors are T-Sgt. Natividad Vasquez, S-Sgt. Joseph E. Wittene, Airman 1-C John B. Patton and Sgt. Frank M. Imely.

Three of them parachuted from the stricken plane moments before it hurtled to the ground. Another crawled from the wreckage. All four were taken to Glenn County General Hospital in Willows.

The Air Force believed at first that there were 16 men on the plane, but later discovered 17 were aboard.

Some Badly Burned

An Air Force spokesman in Sacramento, Calif., said the names of those aboard the plane probably would come from 8th Air Force Headquarters at Fort Worth, Tex.

However, the spokesman said the names would not be released until the bodies are identified. This process may take some time, he indicated, because some were badly burned and mangled in the crash.

The plane, on a routine weather reconnaissance mission from Briggs Air Force Base at El Paso, Tex., crashed within 100 yards of the ranch home of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Chittenden.

Mrs. Chittenden said she and her husband heard a roar that got "louder and louder."

"It wasn't a normal sound of a big plane. But more of a screaming noise as if it were in a spin. We thought it was coming right at us and we turned and ran the other way as fast as we could."

Army Truck Topples on Boys, One Dead, One Hurt

QUINCY, Ill. (AP) — An Army truck overturned on U. S. 24 north of here today and fell on two boys walking to their rural school, killing one and critically injuring his brother.

Seven of the nine soldiers aboard the truck were injured, but only one was hurt badly enough to be hospitalized.

The truck, part of a four-truck convoy from Camp McCoy, Wis., to Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo., apparently was forced off the road by an oncoming truck, which failed to stop afterward.

The vehicle rolled over and toppled on Charles Smith, 10, and his brother Gary, 8, who were walking at the edge of the road on their way to school.

Charles died instantly and Gary was taken to St. Mary's Hospital in critical condition. The soldier most seriously hurt was identified as Junior Hayes, Ladysmith, Wis., suffering head and chest injuries.

The convoy had spent the night at Rock Island, Ill., and planned to get to Jefferson City, Mo., tonight.

Large Audience Sees Opening of Elks Revue; Final Show Tonight

A large and appreciative audience last night saw and heard the annual Elks minstrel and revue at its first showing at the Grand theatre and another crowd is expected for the final presentation tonight at eight o'clock.

The show, Covers Up, is divided into two parts, as is the custom in the annual treat. First part is the revue based on various nationally-known magazines, with lots of music and comedy. This revue is climaxed by an excellent colorful scene at a country fair.

The minstrel is unusually good this year and the pit orchestra is the best ever obtained for an Elks show here.

Tax Commissioner Says Gov't Has Chance to Collect on 'Windfalls'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Internal Revenue Commissioner T. Coleman Andrews said today the government has "better than a fighting chance" to recover millions of dollars made by builders in "windfall" profits on government-insured housing projects.

The nation's chief tax collector told the Senate Banking Committee he intends to crack down on builders seeking to duck taxes on their multi-million dollar profits.

A number of cases were cited where builders have sought to dodge high normal tax rates by various means and Andrews was asked what he could do about it.

"We think there are aspects of all these cases that at least give us something better than a fighting chance to get at this income and we intend to do that," Andrews testified.

Subcommittee Chairman Homer E. Capehart (R-Ind.) said that as a result of the exposure of the multi-million dollar "windfalls" the American people are asking, "Are we going to be able to get any of it back?"

"If there is any to be gotten back, I want it," Andrews replied. William Simon, counsel for the committee, said Andrews would be asked specifically about firms like the Shelby Construction Co., New Orleans, La., where he said "windfall" profits were kept in the firm instead of being paid out as taxable income to the owners.

The money instead was loaned by the firm to the owners for interest paid to the firm, Simon said. In this way the owners get the money for interest paid in effect to themselves and avoid personal tax rates.

A "windfall" is the profit realized by the builder when actual construction costs turn out to be lower than the government-insured mortgage which is paid back over a long period from rents of the project.

Andrews said there are more than 1,150 similar cases where the government can collect higher taxes if the government wins the Gross-Morton case.

Simon said that some housing firms like the one which built Page Manor in Dayton, Ohio, got a $900,000 "windfall" which was lent, tax free, to the firm's four stockholders instead of being paid as taxable dividends. He said this method was adopted pending outcome of the Gross-Morton case.

Saul Silverman, Baltimore, Md., builder, Simon said, got a one-million-dollar "windfall" and lent himself $300,000 of it at a low interest rate of about one-half of one percent, avoiding taxes. Even if he lived 30 more years, Simon said, his interest payments would amount to only 15 per cent, which he could deduct from his personal income taxes.

Silverman also lent $500,000 of the profits to a Cleveland, Ohio, race track which he owns, Simon said.

Mrs. Wm. Lippiatt Receives Injuries In Automobile Crash

Mrs. William (Lucy) Lippiatt of 807 North Cherry street was taken to a hospital with injuries suffered in a two-car collision at West Poplar and Jackson streets during the noon hour today.

City Policeman Tom Gram said his investigation revealed Mrs. Lippiatt was driving east on Poplar and the car she was driving was struck near the left rear wheel by an auto driven by Liddle Harris of 301 South Granger, who was crossing Poplar on Jackson.

The Lippiatt car landed on the sidewalk at the southeast corner of the intersection.

Named to Toll Road Commission

SPRINGFIELD (AP) — William Wood Prince, 40, Chicago, has been named to the Illinois Toll Highway Commission.

Gov. William G. Stratton Wednesday announced Prince's appointment to succeed the late Chauncey McCormick, who died Sept. 8. Prince's term in the $10,000 a year job will expire in 1957.

Prince is president of the Union Stock Yard and Transit Co., Chicago, and chairman of the board of the International Live Stock Exposition and Horse Show, the International Dairy Show of Chicago, and the International Kennel Club, Chicago.

74 Discharged For Security by Armed Forces

WASHINGTON (AP) — The armed forces have given "other than honorable" discharges to 74 servicemen this year on grounds they were security risks because of Communist associations, the Defense Department disclosed today.

In addition, Defense Department officials said other military men may have been separated from the services for security reasons but with honorable discharges.

All but eight of the 74 "other than honorable" discharges were given by the Army. This is probably due to the fact that the Army must accept draftees while the other services can check on the security of recruits before they are signed up.

Figures made available by the Defense Department today show that from March 21 through July 30, the Army gave 59 "undesirable" discharges to military personnel because of suspected Communist activities or associations. In addition, the Army discharged seven persons for the same reasons under conditions "other than honorable."

New Program By Wilson

Since Jan. 1 the Navy said seven of its personnel have been given "undesirable" discharges as security risks. The Air Force listed only one "undesirable" discharge since January under the security program.

This total of 74 "other than honorable" discharges under the Defense Department security program is in line with Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson's comment in Denver Monday that only a small percentage of defense personnel have been removed as security risks.

Most of the 74 security discharges were given under a new program established by Wilson in April to tighten up procedures for getting security risks out of the military services.

McKinley Baptist Revival to Continue Through Next Week

Revival services will continue through next week at the McKinley Avenue Baptist church, with Dr. S. H. Frazier of Marshall, Texas, as evangelist.

Thus far in the meeting, there have been seven additions to the church, five by baptism, one by letter and one by statement. There was one profession of faith at last night's service.

A large choir, under direction of Maynard Cannon, church music director, has been singing at the 7:30 p. m. services, with Mrs. Robert Keltner and Miss Nancy Fullerton at the organ and piano. Special music features each service.

In addition to the evening services, Dr. Frazier is conducting morning services at 9:30.

Rev. J. D. McCarty invites the public to attend the revival and reminds that a goal of 500 has been set for Sunday school on Sunday, Oct. 10, with 200 the goal for Training Union.

Rejected Suitor With Gun Slain By Girl's Father

GRANITE CITY, Ill. (AP) — A rejected suitor went prowling with a gun through his girl friend's house and was killed in a struggle with her father.

The father, John Tempo, told police he awoke Wednesday to see Falcon O. Edwards, 26, emerging from his daughter's room with a gun in his hand.

Tempo's daughter, Grace, 26, had moved to another room for the night following an argument with Edwards.

The father grappled with Edwards for the gun, he said, and it went off. The bullet struck Edwards in the head and he died later at St. Elizabeth's hospital.

Police said Edwards, a Lawton, Okla., resident, carried a note saying he planned suicide.

Seek Approval Of Decisions On Rearmament

Eden Warns U. S. Might Decide to Withdraw Troops

BONN, Germany (AP) — Russia's 11th-hour attempt to torpedo Western plans for German rearmament met stern resistance today.

In Bonn, Paris and Blackpool, England, the German, French and British architects who drew the blueprint of the plan to restore German sovereignty and align her potential military might with the West either rejected or brushed aside the latest proposal of Russia's V. M. Molotov.

They warned that one more disappointment might lead the United States to withdraw her forces from the defense of Europe.

"And who can blame them?" asked British Foreign Minister Anthony Eden of the Conservative Party convention at Blackpool.

In Paris, Premier Pierre Mendès-France prepared to risk the life of his government on winning approval of the London conference plan to rearm Germany, and told the hesitant French Assembly that such action would not increase the chance of war nor worsen relations with Russia.

Molotov Renews Threat

In Bonn, Chancellor Konrad Adenauer told the Bundestag (lower house) that if the United States withdraws from a disunited Europe "it would mean the loss of peace and freedom for all of us."

In Berlin, Molotov made a second speech and renewed the Russian threat. He warned West Germans they must choose between a plan to rearm Germany and Soviet proposals for reuniting their divided country on Moscow's terms.

The Russians demanded that the London agreement be abandoned, that a new four-power meeting be called to discuss free, all-German elections and unification of the country and that all occupation forces be withdrawn "without delay."

Warning By Eden

The development in the growing struggle for control of Europe's future today included:

1. A warning by Eden that Europe must carry out the London agreements on German rearmament or face American withdrawal of troops from Europe. "If we fail," he told the Conservative party convention at Blackpool, England, "unity of Europe will be in danger, the defense of the free world will be weakened and our American allies will be encouraged to look to other methods for their own salvation . . . and who can blame them?"

2. In Paris Premier Pierre Mendès-France went before a special session of the National Assembly prepared to stake the future of his government on his appeal for approval of the London decisions. He was believed likely to win a close victory on his policies against entrenched opposition, if he calls for a confidence vote.

3. In Bonn the strong Socialist opposition called for a new Big Four conference with Russia on reunification of divided Germany before West Germany ratifies the London agreements.

4. The fires of opposition in both France and West Germany were stoked by Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov who said in Berlin Wednesday night that Russia would agree to "discuss" Western proposals for free, all-German elections and proposed immediate withdrawal of all occupation troops as a prelude to "German unification."

Eden and other Western statesmen branded the Molotov offer a meaningless gesture aimed at stalling French and German approval of the London proposals.

Young Deer is Killed by Auto

Horace Ritchey, conservation officer, today brought to Harrisburg a young buck deer that had been killed by an automobile this morning on Route 34 just south of Thacker's Gap.

The motorist, who reported the accident to Ritchey, said the young deer jumped into the path of his car when he was driving about 35 or 40 miles per hour.

Ritchey estimated the deer was about six months old.

The WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says: Eisenhower's Top Diplomat For Latin America Endorses Left-
Of Center Government; Eisenhower Follows Dwight Mor-row's Example In Mexico;
Land Reforms Considered Best Safeguard Against Communism.

LA PAZ, Bolivia. — Henry Holland, Eisenhower's assistant secretary of state, stood on the balcony of the presidential palace facing a great crowd of people in the square below.

Behind him in the President's reception room the ceiling was pockmarked with the scars of machine-gun fire. Even a marble-topped table was cracked by a bullet—reminder of the precarious life led by the presidents of Bolivia.

But beside Holland stood President Victor Estenssoro, who has been in office longer than any other recent president and who had travelled with Holland past cheering Indians over 300 miles of new Bolivian highway. As a result of that odyssey, there could be no question in Holland's mind or that of any other observer that the president was the hero of Bolivia's Indians. And the Indians comprise 90 per cent of Bolivia's population.

Looking down at the crowd below the president's balcony, assistant Secretary Holland was called upon to make a speech. The applause which greeted his introduction was formal and polite. There were no huzzas from the assembled Indians.

Holland, who speaks perfect Spanish, was also formal and polite—at first. He paid the usual tribute to the beautiful city of La Paz. Then he continued:

"I am most happy to be here with your President and with you
—you whom, if you will permit me,
I should like to call 'companeros.'"

THE TWO HENRYS

The crowd went wild. From that point on the assistant secretary of state was the Indians' friend, the President's friend and the friend of the "Movimiento Nacional Revolucionario." For the word "companeros" while not quite the same as "comrades" is close enough to it to mean that Holland identified himself with the new Bolivian land reform, the seizure of the tin mines and the other drastic measures enforced by the MNR.

Later Holland put himself even closer. In his speech he not only praised the "National Revolutionary" program of President Paz but in a conversation with leftist labor minister Lechin he was quoted as saying: "I now consider myself a member of the party."

This reference to the MNR party obviously was meant as a joke on Holland's part, but it was not so considered by Bolivians. Bolivian exiles and opponents of President Paz stormed with rage. Many Americans lifted their eyebrows.
But Bolivian supporters of the President — and they make up the great majority — were delighted.

Probably staunch GOP conservatives back in the U. S. A. also would have raised their eyebrows when they read El Diario's comment next day that "Henry Holland's visit was the most successful since that of Henry Wallace."

Nevertheless that was the general consensus. For the former vice president had endeared himself to Bolivians not only by playing three sets of tennis on the same day he arrived in the two-mile altitude of La Paz, but by demanding that the tin mines increase wages to miners if the United States was to buy more tin.

CAREFUL EISENHOWER POLICY

Henry Holland's endorsement of the National Revolutionary Government of President Paz was no accident. His speech was no slip of the tongue. It was very carefully considered and represents the most important policy the United States has taken in South America for some time—namely, to back popular political parties whose reforms, even though radical, may prevent communism.

The fact that Holland was not talking for himself alone was indicated by Sen. Bourke Hickenlooper, an Iowa GOP conservative, who, speaking at Comarapa, along the new American-built Andean highway, said:

"I confess that I came down here with some misgivings. But after seeing you, Mr. President, and the support given you by the people, I have come to realize that you are fighting for principles."

"I have traveled in 56 countries," continued Senator Hickenlooper, "and never have I seen more effort on behalf of a country than yours on behalf of Bolivia. If there is any service I can render in my small capacity, please call on me."

IKE'S BROTHER DECIDED

Actually, the Eisenhower decision to support the Movement Nacional Revolucionario was made one year ago by President Eisenhower's brother, Milton. Visiting La Paz in the summer of 1953, Milton decided that President Paz was the best bet Bolivia had against communism, that the MNR land reforms were overdue, that the United States should not interfere with the nationalization of the tin mines.

Tin, Milton Eisenhower also decided, is vital to the American housewife and to American industry. And Bolivian tin would become our lone major supplier—if Southeast Asia goes Communist.

The Eisenhower decision and the Holland approach to carrying it out are not unlike that made by another conservative Republican in another Latin-American country.

When Mexico seized its large estates and parceled them out among the peons, the State Department at first objected; and Frank B.
Kellogg, secretary of state under Coolidge, wrote a series of notes that sent U. S.-Latin American relations to their lowest ebb. To repair the damage, Coolidge sent Dwight Morrow, millionaire partner of the J. P. Morgan banking firm, as ambassador to Mexico, and Morrow surprised the world by endorsing the Mexican land reforms. Morrow's cooperation with Mexico set a new landmark for Mexican-American friendship.

The land reforms of the National Revolutionary Movement in Bolivia are a long way from being equitably carried out. Local Indians brandishing machine guns have moved in on various landowners and taken away not only all their land but their farm machinery and cattle. They have even seized the farm property of the American Evangelist Mission and the farm experimental tract of the U. S. Point Four program, both engaged in trying to do what the Bolivian government wants done—teaching the Indians to increase agricultural production.

Nevertheless, despite these injustices—which result from uncontrolled local leaders—there can be little question that land reform is the best way to stop communism in Bolivia, and that Milton Eisenhower and Henry Holland basically are right.

Some Days It Doesn't Pay to Be a Cop

TROY, N. Y. — The saga of "The Two Cops and the Snapping Turtle" had its setting in nearby Cohoes.

Long accustomed to chasing down everything from the conventional robber to stray horses, dogs and cows, Cohoes police nevertheless were startled when an urgent alarm sent them in pursuit of a 25-pound snapping turtle.

The gigantic snapper had wandered into the city from its Mohawk River home and was holding a circle of curious youngsters at bay.

The undaunted police went to the rescue, risking loss of a finger or two to the four-inch jaws of the refugee from the river. Succeeding in flipping the turtle over, the peace defenders lassoed the prejudging neck, dumped the turtle into an iron drum and carried it back to its home in the river.

Respiratory Ailments of Miners Also Traced to Emotional Stress

CHICAGO (AP)—Many coal miners with respiratory trouble also are suffering from emotional stress similar to combat fatigue, a team of psychiatrists and doctors reported today.

Some could return to the mines if treated both psychologically and physically, the doctors reported in the Journal of the American Medical Assn.

The report was made by Drs.
W. Donald Ross, Lee H. Miller,
H. Halbert Leet and Frank Prince of the University of Cincinnati College of Medicine and the Cincinnati General Hospital.

They studied the cases of 40 miners who apparently were incapacitated by shortness of breath, coughing, chest pains and "smothering."

Typically Hard Lives
The doctors said the typical life story of a miner begins with money difficulties and resulting poor education, hard work, fighting among brothers and sisters, and death in the family.

Most of the men studied started to work in their teens and helped raise younger brothers and sisters, or married early and had children of their own to support.

The doctors said some became bitter at missed opportunities, but have come to realize that you are fighting for principles. They managed to hide their fears while surviving explosions or falls that killed or maimed their friends.

The doctors said that sometimes,
after a useless attempt to save a worker or after recovering a body and notifying the family, the men had nightmares and woke up choking and weak.

Fear Hazards of Trade

Unknowningly, the doctors said, they began to fear mining hazards while denying the fear to them-

Colas and Ginger Ales Lead in Thirst Derby

NEW YORK (AP)—The average American drinks 182 soft drinks a year, 106 of which are a cola of some sort.

A study of the nation's pop industry by a cola maker shows that cola's closest challenger is ginger ale, averaging 18 drinks per American annually. Third in favor are root beer, lemon and lime, each at 13.

Orange rates 11 drinks, grape averages about four, and five other flavors together trail with 17 drinks among them.

Barking Deer
The barking deer, native of Burma, China, and India, utters a short, high-pitched bark when it is alarmed. It is only about 21 inches in height and weighs as little as 20 pounds when fully grown.

Miss Shirley Ann Aldridge, Rev. Richard E. Jordan Wed at First Church of God

(Ronnie's Studio Photo)
Rev. and Mrs. Richard E. Jordan

White gladioli and pom poms before a background of huckleberry and emerald formed the setting for the wedding of Miss Shirley Ann Aldridge, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Layton Aldridge, 1229 South Roosevelt, and Rev. Richard E. Jordan, Milton, Fla., son of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Jordan of Hattiesburg, Miss.

The double ring ceremony took place Sunday, Oct. 3, at 2 p. m. in the First Church of God on Charleston street. The Rev. Ralph Hendricks, Pensacola, Fla., former classmate of the bridegroom, officiated.

Tall candelabra with lighted tapers also added to the adornment of the altar which was draped in white.

As the bride reached the altar escorted by her father, the bridegroom sang "Because." She was lovely in a ballerina length gown of white chantilly lace fashioned with dainty ruffles of nylon net at the bodice. The lace jacket with elbow length sleeves and a stand-up collar fastened above the waist line. She wore a veil of illusion secured to a crown of seed pearls and rhinestones and carried white orchids and stephanotis. Her only jewelry was a Girard Perregaux watch given to her by the bridegroom.

Miss Carolyn Boyd was maid of honor, and Mrs. John Young was bridesmaid. Both wore identical ballerina length gowns of raspberry net and antique taffeta. They were designed with a strapless bodice sprinkled with rhinestones and pearls with matching boleros. They also wore white velvet and pearl headbands with nose veils and carried crescents of white fugi mums with silver wheat.

Miss Myra Burnam, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Robert Norman, sang "O Promise Me," "My Wonderful One," and "The Lord's Prayer" as a benediction. The bridegroom's father was best man.

Otis Youngs was groomsmen and served as an usher with Merle Holland.

Mrs. Aldridge chose for her daughter's wedding a dress of steel blue taffeta with a pink velvet hat and pink accessories and a corsage of pink rosebuds.

The bridegroom's mother wore a suit of black faille with white accessories and white carnations.

The couple left immediately after the wedding for a trip through the South. They will be at home Saturday, Oct. 9, on Route 2 in Milton, Fla., where the bridegroom is pastor of Elizabeth Chapel.

The bride graduated from the Harrisburg Township high school with the class of 1953 and attended Anderson college in Anderson, Ind. During her high school years she was a cheerleader for four years, a letter girl for three years, and was chosen homecoming queen in her senior year. She was formerly employed as a telephone operator.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Asbury college in Asbury, Ky. For traveling clothes Mrs. Jordan chose autumn dress with black accessories.

Out of town guests were Rev. and Mrs. Ralph Hendricks, Pensacola, Fla., Mrs. Martha Pemberton, Crestview, Fla., and Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Jordan of Hattiesburg, Miss.

On Saturday evening, Oct. 2, a rehearsal dinner was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Merle Holland.

Methodist Circle Holds Benefit Tea at Home of Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Turner Sr.

Members of Martha circle of the Methodist Women's Society of Christian Service were happy to welcome to their benefit coffee Wednesday many men and women who came from 7 to 11 to refresh themselves with coffee, spiced tea and dainty pastries.

The coffee was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Turner Sr. and since it was the first event held in their new home as a benefit affair to which the public was invited, those who wished to do so were conducted around the house which is one of the most modern and functional for gracious living in southern Illinois.

Mr. Turner is the southern Illinois pioneer in television, and visitors were particularly interested in the emphasis given comfort in viewing television in the master bedroom, also in the upstairs rooms occupied by their daughter, Cuba, and their granddaughter, Paula Reynolds. The upstairs balcony with its bannister designed and made by Mr. Turner and the recreation facilities downstairs and on the main floor called for many admiring comments as did also the antique bedroom and the mirrored dressing rooms.

Beautiful late summer roses and asters graced the center of the refreshment table, over which Mrs. J. O. Hall, Mrs. B. E. Montgomery, Mrs. W. L. Cummins, Mrs. Dale Harmon, Mrs. Gus Syers, Mrs. John Schwartz, and Mrs. Adolph Smith presided.

Mrs. Hall was general chairman of the benefit affair, with Mrs. Dewey Williams and Mrs. Harold

Democrats List Nixon Votes on Major Issues

WASHINGTON — The Democratic National Committee today cited 10 instances in which it said Vice President Richard M. Nixon as a congressman voted against President Eisenhower's stand on "major issues."

The committee also sought to show through a "sample listing" of Nixon's votes as a representative and senator from 1947 to 1952 that he voted "against the welfare of farmers, working people and small business operators."

The Democrats assembled their anti-Nixon material in a 10-page memorandum for the use of party leaders and candidates in areas where Nixon is stumping for Republican candidates.

In its effort to show Nixon in conflict with Mr. Eisenhower, the committee compared statements the President made during the 1952 election campaign with specific votes by Nixon in the House and Senate.

The Democrats said Mr. Eisenhower pledged to encourage imports, step up Point Four assistance, give full support to Atlantic allies, to fight inflation, extend social security aid to all, provide medical care, replace slums and provide better housing, support the price of perishable farm products, develop public power and "streamline" government administration.

As interpreted by the Democrats, Nixon voted to "cripple" the Reciprocal Trade Act, restrict Point Four aid, reduce military aid to end rent control, "prevent" social security expansion, against authorization of local public health units, to "kill" public housing and slum clearance, to deny price supports on perishables, "cripple" public power and to "hamstring" government reorganization.

Illinois Farmer Named Consultant To Chief of CSS

WASHINGTON — Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson has named Earl M. Hughes, Woodstock, Ill., dairy farmer, as a consultant to James A. McConnell, chief of the Commodity Stabilization Service.

Benson said Hughes, whose appointment is effective immediately, will work with McConnell on "problems related to price support operations and administration."

Hughes is a director of the Illinois Agricultural Assn. and of the Foundation for American Agriculture.

Talking letters that can be mailed and filed like typewritten letters, but are played back like magnetic tape recordings, may revolutionize correspondence. The advantage of the magnetic letter is that it can be handled as ordinary paper correspondence while giving the directness of phonograph or tape recordings.

Gov. Stratton Believes Remap Plan Will Pass

SPRINGFIELD — Gov. William G. Stratton says he's cheered about prospects for adoption of the blue ballot remap plan.

Stratton told a news conference Wednesday he feels the proposal to redistrict the Legislature has a good chance of passage in the Nov. 2 election, despite opposition.

The proposed constitutional amendment would give Cook county slim control of the Illinois House. Downstate Illinois now has sizeable majorities in both the House and Senate.

"We've made an all-out effort to have it passed and I think we're within distance now of passing it," Stratton said.

He dodged the question of what steps he might take against Republican lawmakers who campaign against the measure, which he described as the "key" item in his administration program.

Reporters asked specifically about House Majority Whip John W. Lewis Jr., Marshall, who took a position against the remap plan in a televised debate Monday night. An aide later described Stratton as irked and said he planned to "do something" about Lewis.

Asked if he would "crack the party whip," Stratton replied "This isn't a question of a whip—it's a question of what's right and what's wrong."

Ask Emergency Federal Aid to Combat Polio At Tallahassee, Fla.

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. — Acting Gov. Charles E. Johns sought emergency federal aid today to fight a polio epidemic which has stricken 227 persons and possibly hundreds more here this year.

Thirty-nine new cases were reported within a 24-hour period Wednesday, among them a physician who was the fifth member of his family to become ill. There have been no deaths reported.

Dr. Bernard Rosenblum, who helped give gamma globulin shots to some 20,000 persons earlier in the epidemic was admitted to the polio ward of the Tallahassee Memorial Hospital where his three children are being treated. His wife had the disease but returned home Sunday.

Clinton county has the greatest amount of unroaded or only slightly eroded land among the 31 southern Illinois counties. (SIU).

Surplus Food Action Follows My Demand: Douglas

U. S. Senator Paul H. Douglas today issued a statement relative to the meeting of Illinois welfare officials from five southern Illinois counties Monday in West Frankfort to plan food distribution to the families of unemployed miners.

"I think it is significant that one day after I finished my southern Illinois tour, in which I urged that surplus food be brought into distressed areas such as the coal mining section of southern Illinois for hungry children and other needy persons, that the Illinois Aid Commission should call a conference at West Frankfort to be held next Monday.

"I have been demanding this for months, but up to date no action has been taken. I strongly urge that this conference speed up the bringing in of food for this worthy purpose.

It will be necessary for the state or the federal government to pay transportation and distribution costs. I believe it should also pay for the processing of some of the wheat now stored in government warehouses into flour so that this may also be used. After months of an attempted coverup, the real situation is beginning to be understood. I shall continue to use my efforts to see that this region is properly cared for as it has not been for the past twenty-one months.

"Sen. Paul H. Douglas."

Plane Crashes In Cottonfield

MINCO, Okla. (AP)—A two-engine plane crashed and exploded in a cottonfield eight miles southwest of here today and the Civil Aeronautics Administration said three persons were aboard.

A nearby resident said he saw two charred bodies in the burning wreckage.

The CAA in Oklahoma City said the craft was definitely identified as a civilian twin-engine Beechcraft owned by Hunter Douglas Co. of Riverside, Calif., en route to Prescott, Ariz.

The Highway Patrol said a secretary for the California firm listed the names of the plane's three occupants as the pilot, Jack Ivory, Riverside, executive vice president of the Hunter Douglas Corp., and two other executives, Tom Holmes and Clem Lund, both of Riverside.

Biggest Oil Drilling Year in Illinois Since 1941

CHAMPAIGN (AP)—State geologists today reported Illinois oilmen are having their busiest drilling year since 1941.

The State Geological Survey said the total number of completed wells this year is expected to be the highest in 13 years.

The survey said the number of wells drilled for oil and gas in the first nine months of 1954 alone already tops the figure for all of last year.

Norkus Knocks Out Powell in Seventh Round

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Charley Norkus, a journeyman pugilist from the Jersey flats, rocketed into the fight spotlight today as the result of his seventh-round knockout of Charley Powell Wednesday night.

Norkus, a 2-1 underdog who was matched against Powell in the San Diego Bomber's debut on a nationally televised card, brought him down for a technical knockout at 2:10 of the seventh round with a shower of lefts and rights.

It was disclosed after the fight that Powell had either dislocated the little finger on his hand or possibly broken it.

This marked the first time the erstwhile defensive end of the San Francisco Forty Niners had lost. Before the fight ended he was on the canvas three times. Norkus had put him there earlier in the knockout round and had dropped him with a short left hook just as the fourth ended.

Report 1,951 New Polio Cases in Week

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Public Health Service said today that 1,951 new polio cases were reported last week, the smallest figure in seven weeks.

The total compared with 2,344 cases in the previous week and 1,455 cases for a comparable week last year.

Oklahoma-Texas Game Is Rated a Toss-up; Purdue Is Favored to Beat Duke

NEW YORK (AP)—The big clash of old-time rivals Oklahoma and Texas this Saturday was rated at strictly even money today, even though Oklahoma currently is ranked as the nation's No. 1 football team.

A national syndicate made this estimate in its weekly football odds and placed in the same toss-up category the important intersectional games between Southern Methodist and Missouri, and Stanford and Navy.

Oklahoma, idle last week, goes into this week's fray with two wins in two starts while Texas has beaten Washington State, 40-14, but been defeated by Notre Dame. Recent history also is on the side of the Sooners, who have won five of the first six games in the series. But Oklahoma must operate without ace quarterback Gene Calame, lost with injuries.

Southern Methodist has been beaten once by Georgia Tech, while Missouri had lost to Purdue—a loss that doesn't look very bad in the light of what Purdue did to Notre Dame last week.

Stanford goes into its clash with Navy, their first meeting in history, fresh from a nationally televised victory over Illinois but Navy also is in top form and now rated one of the East's best teams.

The syndicate foresaw three other big games as close to even money—picking by margins of just 1 point Houston over Texas A and M, Iowa State over Kansas, and Marquette over Cincinnati.

In this week's nationally televised game, unbeaten Wisconsin was rated a 13-point favorite over visiting Rice.

Purdue was figured as a 7-point favorite to follow up its stunning victory over Notre Dame with an intersectional triumph over Duke.

In two Friday night games, Southern California was rated a 13-point choice over Texas Christian.

Other Saturday selections were: East: Princeton 7 over Pennsylvania, Yale 13 over Columbia, Colgate 19 over Rutgers, Cornell 19 over Harvard, and Army 21 over Dartmouth.

South: North Carolina 6 over Georgia, Auburn 7 over Kentucky, Georgia Tech 13 over Louisiana State, Mississippi State 13 over Tulane, Florida 14 over Clemson, William and Mary 14 over North Carolina State, Mississippi 19 over Vanderbilt, Maryland 20 over Wake Forest.

Midwest: Nebraska 6 over Kansas State, Ohio State 6 over Illinois, Iowa 13 over Michigan, Minnesota 13 over Northwestern, Notre Dame 20 over Pittsburgh.

Far West: Washington State 7 over Oregon State, California 13 over Oregon, UCLA 20 over Washington.

Dodgers Amused At Dressen Bid For Robinson

By United Press

The Brooklyn Dodgers greeted Washington Senator M. A. N. a g e r Chuck Dressen's "bid" for Jackie Robinson with amused restraint today but other activities along the reawakening baseball front indicated that several major deals may be in the offing.

"I won't even bother to yell 'tampering,'" said E. J. (Buzzy) Bavasi, vice president of the Dodgers, in response to Dressen's statement that he'd "take Robinson."

"I'm quite sure Jackie would much prefer to play for the Dodgers than the Senators."

ETAO ETAO E EEE Dressen, in a formal press conference with Washington reporters Wednesday said he would "take Robinson if I could get him here—and he'd take 15 pounds off—he still can play."

"If that's a concrete offer for Robinson, it's the first we've received," Bavasi said. "However, there's no doubt there are 14 other clubs which would take Jackie."

Dressen announced that ex-Brooklyn star Cookie Lavagetto had been hired as a Washington coach and that coaches Joe Fitzgerald and Joe Haynes were being retained. He also announced the acquisition of first baseman Jim Marshall and pitchers Don Ferrare and Al Gettel from Oakland in the Pacific Coast League.

Cards Ready to Trade General Manager Dick Meyer of the St. Louis Cardinals and General Manager Frank Lane of the Chicago White Sox, announced their readiness to part with front-line players to aid their teams.

"We might trade Wally Moon reluctantly to get an outstanding pitcher," said Meyer. "We've already discussed major deals with several clubs during the World Series."

Meyer revealed he had offered three players for 13-game winner Bob Rush of the Chicago Cubs and also was dickering with the Milwaukee Braves in an effort to acquire Warren Spahn, Lew Burdette or Gene Conley.

Lane said he would be willing to deal one of the White Sox' front-line pitchers to obtain a hard-hitting outfielder. Lane mentioned no names but indicated he would surrender Virgil Trucks, Sandy Consuegra or Mike Fornieles.

The White Sox are believed to be interested in Larry Doby of the Cleveland Indians and Bill Skowron or Gene Woodling of the New York Yankees.

But therein lies the secret of the upsets which you will see every Saturday. The return of one player football leveled 'em all off' and the team which is emotionally ready takes home the blown-up chitlin'.

To win them all it's going to take a coach who is a gold star actor a peerless psychologist and a master elocutionist—and with his pockets full of four-leaf clovers.

Indiana Prison Officials Say Strike 'Flop'

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind. (AP)—Indiana State Prison officials, called a guards' strike a "flop" today and told National Guardsmen they wouldn't be needed to handle 2,900 convicts.

The walkout appeared near collapse after only 16 hours, when prison officials announced that 44 guards showed up for work on Wednesday night's shift—three more than are ordinarily needed.

Leaders of the independent guards' union, however, retorted that only 12 men had reported for work and that the strike would keep going.

Valdes Rated Only Contender For Marciano

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP)—The National Boxing Association's quarterly ratings released today name Nino Valdes for Rocky Marciano's world champion heavyweight title.

Fred Saddy of Milwaukee, chairman of the NBA Rating Committee, said Valdes is the first heavyweight to be chosen as a contender since the NBA picked Ezzard Charles before his first fight with Marciano. Charles is listed as an outstanding boxer in this quarter's ratings.

The NBA said there was no logical contender available for light heavyweight champion Archie Moore.

Sandy Saddler has been warned by the NBA that he must defend his lightweight championship before Dec. 14. The NBA said it would recognize the winner of the Percy Bassett-Redtop Davis bout if Saddler failed to defend.

Robert Cohen of French Algeria succeeds retired bantamweight champion Jimmy Carruthers of Australia. Cohen recently won an elimination bout from Chamrern Songkritrat of Thailand and must next North American champion Ron Macias of Mexico within 90 days to retain the NBA recognition. Macias defeated Cleveland's Nate Brooks recently to take the North American crown.

Grid Upsets IN THE Sport Parade

By OSCAR FRALEY
United Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—If you're looking for the reason why there are so many major upsets on college gridirons this fall the answer is the return of the one-platoon system.

Coaches at the football "factories," who ordinarily would overweigh minor opposition by sheer weight of numbers, heatedly deny this. It is face-saving to contend that they were beaten by better personnel.

But the answer is that a handful of inspired iron men from almost any little college now has a chance against any of the football titans.

In other words, a coach has to have his team "up" mentally as well as physically to get past even the "breathers" this year. A little team which makes the mistake of looking forward to a game the following week with a "name" rival. Still Need Personnel Personnel is, of course, basically necessary. But every coach had time, with the abolition of free substitution last season, to get ready for this year. The leveling off has been completed and just about anything can happen in any game.

Which accounts for some of the peculiarities which have been occurring. How else, for instance, can you explain the 7-2 win of Mississippi Southern over an Alabama team expected to be one of the South's finest?

Let's look at some of the others. Utah lost two games and then edged Oregon, touted as the best in the West, 7-6. Florida lost its opener by 20 points to Rice and then bounced back to beat Georgia Tech, 13-12. The Texas Aggies dropped two games and then humbled Georgia, 6-0.

South Carolina, an underdog, walked away with a 26-7 upset of Michigan. 26-6. Meanwhile Army rebounded with a 26-7 upset of Michigan—and you can bet all the orange pekoe in Cathay that West Virginia isn't 53 points better than Michigan.

Massachusetts Cited Massachusetts barely beat American International in its opener. So in its second game it put the hooks on Harvard, 13-7. Penn State and Purdue may simply have better ball-players than anyone expected, but they had to be "ready" as well as able to score their respective triumphs over Illinois and Notre Dame.

In theory, every team which plays Notre Dame is pointing for the Irish. Yet young Terry Brennan has something going for him which few coaches, if any, have. This is the fact that at Notre Dame football is an institution. The team through long necessity gets "up" for every game—which would indicate that Purdue's was a well-earned triumph and the Boilermakers could be the best in the Midwest.

If they come "up" for every game. But therein lies the secret of the upsets which you will see every Saturday. The return of one player football leveled 'em all off' and the team which is emotionally ready takes home the blown-up chitlin'.

To win them all it's going to take a coach who is a gold star actor a peerless psychologist and a master elocutionist—and with his pockets full of four-leaf clovers.

Bull Dogs Play at Mt. Vernon Friday Night in Annual Shrine Tilt

Coach Lawrence Cahfetti this week prepared his Bull Dogs for the invasion of Mt. Vernon Friday night for the annual Shrine benefit football contest between the two schools.

It also is a South Seven contest, in which Harrisburg has a single win and the Rams a single loss. Harrisburg boasts a 25-7 win over Marion Mt. Vernon bowed, 21 to 6, to Benton in its loop opener.

Last week the Rams travelled to Albion for a contest they expected to win but went home with a 12 to 7 defeat. So Coach Noble Thomas probably will have his charges up for the Harrisburg tilt.

Against Albion, the Rams made 11 first downs, Albion 12. Albion gained a net 234 yards from scrimmage, Mt. Vernon 198. The Rams threw a lot of passes, completing four out of 17 for 78 yards. Albion threw 10 against Mt. Vernon, hitting on five of them for 75 yards.

The Ram tally came in the second half when five straight first downs took the ball to the A-21, where the attack bogged. But Mt. Vernon's Woods recovered an Albion fumble and four plays later Woods circled end for the tally. Brookman kicked the extra point.

One of the best Ram gains came in the second period when quarterback John Kuder fired a pass from his own 30 to Fred Deichman, who caught it and ran to the A-17.

There is one other South Seven contest on the Friday night card—West Frankfort at Marion. The other South Seven teams take on non-conference foes with Benton entertaining Eldorado, Herrin entertaining Christopher and Centralia travelling to Murphysboro.

THE STORY: Mrs. Angelica Jones, sister-in-law of Jim Dunn's, is dead and the facts point to murder at the Colorado mountain lodge where Jim and his bride Nancy are posing as caretakers in order to do detective work for Mrs. Kit Carlson. Jim has just found the body in the basement, lying on an elevator used to bring up wood for the upstairs fireplace.

Nancy had on her blue jeans, her trim boots and fitted jacket. Jim put his arm around her, pulled her up for a kiss.

He told her about the body, and went on. "The phone's dead, honey. I guess it's up to you to get to a phone. The one in that gatekeeper's shack might be working. Or you might have to go clear into Creek Junction. Get the sheriff. Tell him what happened. I'll stay here to make certain nothing is disturbed."

Nancy Dunn's face was white and drawn. She said, "Our—our client?"

"Yes. One dead man beside a California swimming pool. A dead woman in a wood elevator in Colorado. But both with crushed skulls. Both found when Mrs. Kit and her faithful retainer were alone in the house. You think the local sheriff is going to write that off as a coincidence?"

"What are you going to do, Jim?"

"Find out some things," Dunn said grimly.

Jim watched his car climb up the road toward the plateau. He looked beyond Miss Wister's coupe, looked at the moving water of the lake. He knew it was only his imagination, but that body of water did not appear so beautiful now.

He heard Mrs. Kit screaming as soon as he was inside the kitchen door.

"No no no no! Not again! Please not again!"

He moved quickly through the kitchen, toward the hall and bedroom. He could hear the lower answering whine of Mrs. Gelstrap's voice, heard the relaxation of Kit's hysteria into violent sobbing. He pushed open the bedroom door without knocking.

Mrs. Gelstrap held the nearly empty glass of water she had just taken from the younger woman. There was no sign of the black coffee Jim had prescribed. Mrs. Gelstrap soothed, "You rest and sleep now. It'll be all right."

Kit Carlson saw Jim, broke into accusations. "You didn't help! You didn't keep this from happening. It's happened again!"

"What have you given her now?" Jim demanded of the cook.

"Just another little capsule or so." There was defiance in Sue Gelstrap's whine. "Poor thing. She has to rest. She's been through so much."

Already Kit's eyelids were getting heavy. Jim demanded, "Listen to me. Don't go to sleep again. What did you hear during the night?"

"Hear? I didn't hear anything but the water. And the moaning of the wind. Who is doing this to me? That's the question you should be trying to answer."

"Don't think about it, dearie," Mrs. Gelstrap said.

Advertising Makes the Wheels Turn

By ROBERT W. KINCEY
The Birmingham News

If money makes the mare go, as they say, then advertising makes the wheels turn and I've never sold a nickel's worth in my life.

There just simply isn't a subject on earth so all-embracing and with such a maze of ramifications. Verily and without doubt it is the answer, in one form or another, to just about everything we think, eat, do, wear, and go in this bewildering world of ours.

Advertising! Without it there would be no progress and the probability is only the elect and the very select would be far beyond the primitive stage today.

Was looking at a magnificent new automobile the other day, all air-conditioned and done up in every imaginable sort of finery. It probably sold for somewhere near $7,000, maybe more.

And then the thought occurred that were it not for the demand created by advertising, in one or more of its multitudinous forms, the limited number produced would put them completely out of the reach of all but a handful of millionaires.

And the same identical thing is true, in varying measure, from a box of cake mix to a baby grand piano.

Advertising, in its broad and ethical aspects, is informative. Information is knowledge. Both are conducive to competition. And since competitive effort is what has made America great, it is safe to assume that the intensified competition will, of necessity, call for intensified selling effort — advertising.

No potent and vital a factor has advertising become in the general scheme of things that cities, towns, states and other community advertising programs now flourish on national and even international scales.

All because people believe in themselves and in what they make, do or sell and are determined that everybody, everywhere shall know it.

Which is an exceedingly fine thing for folks like you and me and for the very simple and obvious reason that we would stand little chance of having even such things as a radio or electric refrigerator or an automobile unless they were mass-produced.

Demand causes mass production, advertising creates demand, and competition is the force eternal behind the story American industry has to tell through the medium of advertising.

HTHS, Eldorado Choral Groups to Sing at SIU Clinic

John Schork, vocal music supervisor at the Harrisburg Township high school, and Ed Creek Jr. of the Eldorado Township high school will accompany choral groups from both schools to Carbondale Saturday for the 15th annual Southern Illinois High School Choral clinic at SIU.

More than 1,000 high school choristers from 23 towns will attend. The singers will rehearse in men's, women's and mixed choruses during the day and present an evening concert under the direction of Robert McCowen, director of choral activities at Iowa State college.

A special feature of the concert this year will be a performance of Gian Carlo Menotti's brief comic opera, "The Telephone," presented by the Southern Illinois Chamber Opera society. The leading roles will be sung by Mrs. Edith Garrison, Mt. Vernon, who is familiar to Carbondale audiences as a soloist with the Southern Illinois Symphony orchestra, and Jerry Crawford, SIU student from Zeigler. DEDICATORY EXERCISES FOR THE NEW EQUALITY high school gymnasium will be held Friday night with a full evening's entertainment scheduled. Pictured in the upper left hand corner is the interior of the new gymnasium. A wood and metal shop section has been constructed on the east end of the building and the interior of this portion is pictured in the upper right. To the far end of this room beyond the windowed partition is the wood finishing, drawing and electrical shop room. There are also four dressing rooms in the new structure, two off the stage proper and two others on the gym floor level at the east end. Photo at the lower left shows the exterior of the gym as it appeared six weeks ago in the finishing stages. Although not located in the new building, the cafeteria, pictured in the lower right, is an addition at the school this year. Approximately a thousand dollars was spent this summer in equipping the cafeteria. Of the 120 pupils enrolled, the cafeteria feeds an average of 82 daily. The school has also added a new drill press and welding machine to the wood shop department, plus several smaller items. Student members of the shop classes have been assisting in wiring the shop as a project. Burton Shann, vocational ag teacher, is wood and welding instructor, and principal Harry Walker teaches general shop. The movable goal which can be seen in the interior gym picture was constructed by Calvin Dunn, Equality blacksmith.

Rotarians, Wives from 48 Clubs in District to Meet at Metropolis

Rotarians and their wives from 48 clubs in the southern 20 counties of Illinois which comprise the 216th district of Rotary International will gather in Metropolis Monday and Tuesday, October 11 and 12 for their annual district convention.

Attendance estimates are for as many as 1,500 guests to attend some of the sessions. There are 1,785 Rotarians in the district, and a full convention program has been arranged for the ladies as well as the men.

One of the highlights of the convention will be the parade of bands and Rotary clubs on Tuesday afternoon through the Metropolis business district. The famous military band and drill team from Fort Campbell, Ky., and the brilliant Southern Illinois university band will be among the marching bands. An Illinois High School association ruling which does not permit high school bands to travel more than 35 miles has greatly reduced the number of bands which will march in the parade, but bands from

Your Newspaper -- Freedom's Forum

The early Roman forum was a public place or a market place in a city; the center of judicial or public business. Its modern-day counterpart is, of course, your newspaper, in whose columns the minds of many men converse, and where an equal number of ideas are debated.

Through this means of mass communication, many ideas gather followings, becoming championed ideals, and sometimes liberties.

While your free press, symbolized here by your newspaper, has aided in the birth of the many liberties we call freedom, it serves also to protect these liberties by exposing those who would curb or destroy them.

The free press—your newspaper—is certainly freedom's forum. But, as we liken this newspaper to the early Roman forum, we must go a step beyond and credit those who have made it possible for our modern counterpart to play such an important role.

The early forums were supported to an extent by the tariffs or rents paid by the merchants who displayed their wares there. Today's merchants aid in the financial operation of a newspaper through their purchase of advertising space.

Besides these similarities, we would fail to recognize the full importance of these forums to our liberty, were we to neglect our standards. Yes, uniform standards are fundamental to the successful commerce and industry that has helped to guarantee our freedom.

It was in the Roman forum where uniform standards for weight and measurement were first evolved. Newspapers, too, have played an important role in establishing uniform standards used in auditing, reporting and measuring circulation audiences.

In 1914, newspapers joined with advertisers, advertising agencies and periodicals in establishing a bureau of circulation standards—the Audit Bureau of Circulations—for the advertising and publishing industry.

The Daily Register plays an active role as an A.B.C. member in voluntarily upholding and maintaining these circulation standards which are so important in our relations with our advertisers. Important, also, to the editorial quality of our paper.

The Daily Register is proud of its part, in association with other newspapers, in earning the slogan, "Your Newspaper — Freedom's Forum."

Limestone Lem Says "Don't Let Acid Soil Handcuff Your Fertilizer"

Use lime where your land needs it, so fertilizers can do a better job for you. Here is an actual field test reported by a specialist at the University of Nebraska showing the results from the use of lime and phosphate (Soil Treatment, Value of Material Used, Bu. Corn Produced, Value of Extra Corn at $1.50 bu.)

None	0	43	—
Phosphate	$ 5.00	56	$19.50
Lime	9.00	76	49.50
Lime & Phosphate	14.00	81	57.00

These field tests proved to the farmer that returns on an investment in lime were over $5.00 for each $1.00 invested.

Liming the soil restores the calcium removed by cropping and leaching and supplies this mineral to calcium hungry legumes. It makes fertilizer phosphorous, more effective and available to crops. The results are improved quality and feed value of crops, also increased productivity of soil, all of which mean larger income for the farmer.

COLUMBIA AGRICULTURAL LIMESTONE gives you more food per dollar spent than any other material you can buy. COLUMBIA 2200 LIMESTONE is 20% finer than 200 mesh giving you more fine powdery limestone which will act quicker in neutralizing soil acidity. Let:

Harrisburg B&PW Club to Observe National Business Women's Week

The Harrisburg Business & Professional Women's club will observe the 27th National Business Women's Week, Oct. 10 to Oct. 16. Mayor Ralph Horning Jr. has proclaimed the week of Oct. 10 to Oct. 16 as National Business Women's week. The proclamation emphasizes "GET-OUT-THE-VOTE" in this congressional election year.

The Federation believes that all of the activities of government, national and local, affect the women personally, intimately and directly; that government also affects the job of every citizen, his home, the prices he pays, the education and future of his children and that is the reason the Business and Professional Women's clubs make their action in government positive and effective through the exercise of their franchise on election day.

One of the main objectives of the Harrisburg Business & Professional Women's club is to urge every woman voter to vote on election day, which is Nov. 2. The privilege given to the women to vote is the great dividing line between the

Arthritis Victim Tries Bee Stings

CHARDON, O. (AP)—Lloyd Albrecht likes to have bees sting him. The 32-year-old farmer is trying the old treatment for arthritis and, after one year of stinging, reports himself improved.

Arthritis struck him in 1941 when he was in military service. It grew worse after he was discharged.

He bought one hive of bees and later added 17 more. He knew how to handle bees, but he got his stings by being "just a little careless" with them.

"Bee stings don't bother me now any more than a mosquito bite," Albrecht said, but they are costly to the bee. The sting is barbed, and so the bee dies when it tries to pull away.

Albrecht said he missed 80 days of work in 1952 when he could scarcely get out of bed. Last year he missed 40 days. So far this year, the number has been negligible.

He once dropped a hive, and 75 infuriated bees stung him before he could get away. That was too much, Albrecht admits.

He expects to keep up his sting treatment for several more years.

Mattoon Council Approves Ordinance to Restrict Water Use

MATTOON, Ill. (AP)—An ordinance placing tight restrictions on the use of water bore initial approval of the City Council today.

By a 3-2 vote, the council Tuesday night gave first reading to the emergency measure, which was submitted by the City Water Board because of a severe water shortage.

The ordinance, due for a second reading at the council's next meeting, would ban sprinkling lawns or gardens, washing cars, and air conditioning units that lack "water-savers." It provides fines of $5 to $100 a day.

Carrier Mills Halloween Celebration To Feature Harvest Queen Selection

The annual Halloween celebration at Carrier Mills, sponsored by the Carrier Mills Lions club, will again be featured by the selection of a Harvest Queen.

Miss Faye Hearn was 1953 Harvest Queen.

The 1954 Harvest Queen contest rules have been announced by Warren Jennings, chairman of the event, as follows:

Selection of the winning contestant for Harvest Queen of 1954 will be determined by votes of patrons contributing to the support of the festivities. To indicate the contestant of their choice, the name of the Harvest Queen candidate to receive the patrons vote must be written on the reverse side of the donation stub. Stubs are to be turned in to the Lions Club Queen committee each Monday evening at the Masonic temple. Fifty votes are placed to the credit of the contestant whose name appears on the reverse side of the stub. The standings of the candidates will be posted weekly in the Life Insurance Agency window. Final votes must be presented to the committee by 8 p. m. Halloween celebration night at the speakers' platform.

The following are the rules and qualifications established by the queen contest committee for the conduct of the contest.

1. Contestants must be of high school age or older.
2. Each contestant must indicate her intentions to compete in the contest by filling in a registration form on or before October 15. Registration forms will be available at Harry Fife's Insurance office.
3. The patron's choice for queen must be written on the back of the donation stub. If an entire donation stub book is to be counted for one contestant only, the contestant's name does not have to be written on the back of each stub, but only on the back of the last stub.

Oldsters: Get Out There and Walk

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Walter Michael Padgett, a 74-year-old gardener who likes a liverwurst on rye and just one glass of beer, can still walk 60 miles in one day.

Padgett proved it recently when he trekked 30 miles outside the city and returned before nightfall. The hike marked the 54th anniversary of his first long-distance effort, a 40-mile jaunt to the outskirts of Reading, Pa.

A former country club greenskeeper, Padgett credits his excellent health to daily walks. He wears shoes like those of Philadelphia policemen and says they're the "best walkers money can buy."

Padgett, who used to walk from here to Atlantic City, N. J., regularly scoffs at doctors who advise elderly persons to stay off their feet.

"We'll have a country of armchair squatters if that keeps up," he complained.
